Identification and Immigration

Most countries require that your passport be valid 6 months beyond your arrival into that country. It is your responsibility to verify entry requirements with your consulate/embassy/state department to ensure your passport and other travel documents meet the entry requirements for the country you are traveling to. Failure to do so could result in denial of entry into that country. People carrying a U.S. passport can find more information about requirements here: travel.state.gov/content/passports/english/country.html

For all cruises passing through Canadian waters or entering an international port, valid passport books for all passengers are required. U.S. passport cards are not valid for entry into other countries. You must have passports with you on board the vessel and provide us with your passport information prior to your departure. We are required to provide U.S. and international government agencies with this information weeks ahead of each departure.

Guests are advised to travel with government-issued identification and proof of citizenship for all party members at all times. For itineraries that cross international boundaries, passports are required for entry/re-entry. Parents traveling with children and/or infants are advised to travel with identification and proof of citizenship for each child. If crossing an international border when one or both parents are not present, the traveling parent or guardian may be required to provide a notarized statement from the other parent or parents allowing the child to travel out of the country. Failure to provide such evidence may prevent entry into that country.

Past felony convictions may disqualify individuals from entry into foreign countries. Guests are advised that a D.W.I. (Driving While Intoxicated) or D.U.I. (Driving Under the Influence) may be considered a felony in other countries, including Canada. It is the client's sole responsibility to ensure the immigration eligibility of all traveling party members for any foreign countries included in this itinerary.

In addition, the U.S. Department of Homeland Security and U.S. Department of State recommend that U.S. travelers leaving the country research the entry documents required for their destination country prior to departure. The entrance requirements for specific countries can be found at www.travel.state.gov.

The Carrier is an equal opportunity provider, operating in the Tongass National Forest under a special use permit from the USDA Forest Service and in Glacier Bay National Park as an authorized Concessioner of the National Park Service, Department of Interior.
